GET ACTIVE AND EARN VITALITY FITNESS POINTS FOR ENDURANCE AND HIGH PERFORMANCE

We have tailored the Vitality programme for highly active members by introducing a new category for Endurance and High Performance to recognise the ongoing dedication and efforts when it comes to both training and competing at this level. You can earn fitness points for one activity a day, up to a maximum of 30 000 fitness points a year. This category is for individuals exercising in peak performance zones and who regularly participate in marathons, triathlons and similar endurance events. These Endurance and High Performance members typically exercise at lower heart rates for longer periods of time.

The new Endurance and High Performance category is by application only. As well as completing a simple eligibility questionnaire online to ensure that it is safe to exercise for long durations, eligibility will also be based on 2016 race event participation or device-recorded vigorous workouts of at least 90 minutes. Members wishing to be part of this category will be asked to satisfy ongoing eligibility criteria.

On Vitality Active Rewards? Members in the Endurance and High Performance category have a maximum weekly goal of 1 200 points.

It is recommended that you do 30 minutes of physical activity most days of the week. Vitality encourages you to exercise safely – make sure that you consult your doctor before starting any exercise programme or before increasing your physical activity levels.
